

Employment Offer / Commencement Letter

Case R12649243 | March 2026 | v1.0 FINAL

Employment Commencement Confirmation

| Field                         | Detail                                |
|-------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| Employee                      | Vikram Deshpande                      |
| Position                      | Senior Technology Role                |
| Commencement Date             | 21 January 2026                       |
| Employment Type               | Full-time, Permanent                  |
| First Day Requirement         | Mandatory attendance for onboarding   |
| Consequence of Non-Attendance | Risk of offer withdrawal              |
| Notice Provided to Court      | 5 business days advance (16 Jan 2026) |

Significance to Adjournment Application

The employment commencement date of 21 January 2026 directly coincides with the originally scheduled hearing date for Case R12649243. The applicant is required to attend mandatory first-day onboarding, including security clearance processing and organisational induction. Non-attendance on the commencement date risks withdrawal of the employment offer, causing material hardship to the applicant.

This document confirms that the employment offer is genuine, the start date is fixed, and attendance on 21 January 2026 is mandatory. This forms a key ground for the adjournment application under the material hardship criterion.